

The Canadian Obesity Network presents:

The 11th Annual Summer Obesity SUMMER SCHOOL

July 15 – July 22, 2017

MASTER'S, PHD, POST-DOC STUDENT OR A YOUNG PROFESSIONAL WORKING IN A FIELD RELATED TO OBESITY?

Spend a week in the Canadian Rockies learning about interdisciplinary obesity research and practice from leading national and international obesity experts.

It's an essential course for obesity researchers and health sciences students who are looking to equip themselves with the best knowledge, skills and tools to deal with obesity.

It's also a life-changing networking and relationship-building experience.

HERE'S HOW:

1

Write a note telling us about your research interests and why you think you would make a great Boot Camper

2

Include your full CV and a written recommendation from your supervisor(s)

3

Fill out the application form

4

Send it all to us by 11:59 pm MDT Monday, March 27, 2017 (details below)!

Canadian and international delegates welcome – but space is limited to 30 PEOPLE!

COST: CDN $2,500 (includes syllabus, full program, shared accommodation, meals, breaks and select social events)

Full info available here: www.obesitynetwork.ca/boot-camp

LIMITED FINANCIAL SUPPORT AVAILABLE FOR CANADIAN STUDENTS!

*Within 5 years of completing your training.

This course may be eligible for credits towards graduate degree programs. Travel expenses are the responsibility of the registrant.

Must show proof of status at a Canadian post-secondary institution to qualify for financial support.